IN RE: TFT-LCD (FLAT PANEL) ANTITRUST
LITIGATION

No. M 07-1827 SI
MDL. No. 1827

Case No.: C 12-0335 SI

This Order Relates to:

VIEWSONIC CORPORATION,
Plaintiff,

v.

AU OPTRONICS CORPORATION, et al.,
Defendants.

ORDER GRANTING IN PART AND DENYING IN PART DEFENDANTS'
JOINT MOTION TO DISMISS
(VIEWSONIC)

Currently before the Court is defendants' joint motion to dismiss the First Amended Complaint filed by ViewSonic Corporation. Pursuant to Civil Local Rule 7-1(b), the Court finds this matter suitable for disposition without oral argument and therefore VACATES the hearing currently scheduled for September 28, 2012. Having considered the parties' papers, and for good cause appearing, the Court hereby GRANTS IN PART and DENIES IN PART defendants' joint motion.

BACKGROUND

ViewSonic is "a large manufacturer of televisions, computer monitors, and other consumer electronics." FAC at ¶ 2. On January 20, 2012, it filed this action in this Court to "recover the damages it incurred as a result of a long-running conspiracy by manufacturers of liquid crystal display panels ('LCD Panels')." Compl. at ¶ 1. ViewSonic filed its first amended complaint ("FAC") on July 27, 2012. The FAC contains four claims: 1) a claim under Section 1 of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1; 2) claims

1 under Sections 4 and 16 of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 15 and 26; 3) a claim under California's
 2 Cartwright Act ("Cartwright Act"), Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 16720, et seq.; and 4) a claim under 3 California's Unfair Competition Law ("UCL"), Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §§ 17200, et seq. FAC at ¶¶
 4 157-171.

5 Defendants now move to dismiss ViewSonic's FAC in part.

7 LEGAL STANDARD

8 Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6), a district court must dismiss a complaint if it
 9 fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. To survive a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss,
 10 the plaintiff must allege "enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Bell Atl.
 11 Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007). This "facial plausibility" standard requires the plaintiff
 12 to allege facts that add up to "more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully."
 13 Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 1949 (2009). While courts do not require "heightened fact pleading
 14 of specifics," a plaintiff must allege facts sufficient to "raise a right to relief above the speculative level."
 15 Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555, 570.

16 In deciding whether the plaintiff has stated a claim upon which relief can be granted, the court
 17 must assume that the plaintiff's allegations are true and must draw all reasonable inferences in the 18 plaintiff's favor. See Usher v. City of Los Angeles, 828 F.2d 556, 561 (9th Cir. 1987). However, the 19 court is not required to accept as true "allegations that are merely conclusory, unwarranted deductions
 20 of fact, or unreasonable inferences." In re Gilead Sciences Sec. Litig., 536 F.3d 1049, 1055 (9th Cir.
 21 2008).

22 If the court dismisses the complaint, it must then decide whether to grant leave to amend. The
 23 Ninth Circuit has "repeatedly held that a district court should grant leave to amend even if no request
 24 to amend the pleading was made, unless it determines that the pleading could not possibly be cured by 25 the allegation of other facts." Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1130 (9th Cir. 2000) (citations and internal 26 quotation marks omitted).

DISCUSSION

Defendants' joint motion seeks dismissal of ViewSonic's claims in four ways: first, "ViewSonic's claims under the Cartwright Act and UCL should be dismissed as time-barred under the applicable statutes of limitations"; second, "ViewSonic's Cartwright Act and UCL claims should be dismissed because the Complaint contains no allegations sufficient to support a conclusion that California law applies to all of its purchases"; third, "ViewSonic's claims under the Sherman Act and Clayton Act should be dismissed to the extent they are based on indirect purchases"; and, fourth, "ViewSonic's Complaint should be dismissed to the extent that it impermissibly relies on group pleading." See Motion at 6.

The Court will discuss each basis for dismissal in turn.

A. ViewSonic's Cartwright Act and UCL Claims – Tolling

Defendants argue that ViewSonic's Cartwright Act and UCL claims are untimely. ViewSonic filed suit more than four years after the DOJ's December 11, 2006 announcement of its investigation into the conspiracy. Because these claims have four-year statutes of limitations, defendants contend that ViewSonic's claims must be dismissed. In particular, defendants argue that ViewSonic does not sufficiently plead facts to justify tolling of the statutes of limitations.

The Court agrees with defendants. ViewSonic articulates its basis for tolling for the first time in its opposition brief. The Court has addressed similar scenarios in this MDL and has concluded that bare tolling allegations similar to those in ViewSonic's FAC do not satisfy the federal pleading standards. See, e.g., Order Granting Defendants' Joint Motion to Dismiss, Master Docket No. 4867, at 2-3 (Feb. 23, 2012) ("[P]laintiffs may not rely on generalized allegations that they are entitled to tolling . . . they must specifically identify every basis they intend to rely on to establish tolling of the statutes of limitations, whether they are class action lawsuits, enforcement actions brought by state Attorney Generals, or other matters."). Plaintiffs in this MDL must plead with specificity the bases for their entitlement to tolling. Cf. Hinton v. Pacific Enters., 5 F.3d 391, 395 (9th Cir. 1993) ("The burden of alleging facts which would give rise to tolling falls upon the plaintiff. . . . That burden does not arise only after a motion to dismiss; rather, the plaintiff 'must plead with particularity the circumstances

1 surrounding the concealment and state facts showing his due diligence in trying to uncover the facts.’’).

2 ViewSonic’s FAC alleges only that “[its] claims were tolled from the time that the first class
3 action complaint relating to the conspiracy alleged herein was filed until the deadline for class members
4 to opt out of the class.” FAC at ¶ 119. This is plainly insufficient to provide defendants with any useful
5 notice of the basis for ViewSonic’s claim of entitlement to tolling. Accordingly, the Court GRANTS
6 defendants’ joint motion to dismiss ViewSonic’s Cartwright Act and UCL claims as untimely, with 7 leave to amend.

9 B. ViewSonic’s Cartwright Act and UCL Claims – Due Process

10 Defendants contend that ViewSonic’s Cartwright Act and UCL claims, as pled, fail to satisfy
11 the requirements set out by this Court’s prior Due Process orders. In particular, defendants argue that
12 ViewSonic does not adequately allege that it purchased LCD panels in California. The Court disagrees
13 with defendants. The FAC alleges that “during and after the Conspiracy Period, Plaintiff purchased and 14 paid for LCD Panels and LCD Products in California.” FAC at ¶ 7; see also id. at ¶ 170(c) (“During
15 the Conspiracy Period, Plaintiff purchased LCD Panels and LCD Products containing price-fixed LCD
16 Panels in California.”). These alleged facts justify applying California law. See Order Granting 17 Defendants’ Joint Motion to Dismiss, Master Docket No. 1822, at 12 (June 28, 2010) (“[I]n order to
18 invoke the various state laws at issue, [plaintiff] must be able to allege that ‘the occurrence or
19 transaction giving rise to the litigation’ – which is [plaintiff’s] purchase of allegedly price-fixed goods
20 – occurred in the various states.”). Accordingly, the Court DENIES defendants’ motion to dismiss
21 ViewSonic’s Cartwright Act and UCL claims on Due Process grounds.

22
23 C. ViewSonic’s Sherman Act Claim

24 Defendants move to dismiss ViewSonic’s Sherman Act claim to the extent that it is based upon
25 indirect purchases. The parties appear to be in agreement on this point. In its opposition, ViewSonic
26 states that it “is not seeking damages under its Sherman Act claim based on indirect purchases or 27 purchases from non-conspirators.” Opp’n at 7. Accordingly, the Court GRANTS defendants’ motion
28 to dismiss ViewSonic’s Sherman Act claim to the extent that it covers indirect purchases.

1 D. Adequacy of Group Pleading

2 Defendants contend that ViewSonic's FAC impermissibly relies on group pleading. This Court
3 has addressed a similar arguments on numerous occasions in this MDL and has concluded that
4 allegations substantially similar to ViewSonic's satisfy the federal pleading standards. See, e.g., Order
5 Denying Defendants' Joint Motion to Dismiss the Second Amended Complaint, Master Docket No.
6 3590, at 3-4 (Sept.15, 2011); Order Denying Defendants' Joint Motion to Dismiss, Master Docket No.
7 3614, at 4-5 (Sept. 19, 2011). Accordingly, the Court DENIES defendants' motion to dismiss on this
8 basis.

10 CONCLUSION

11 For the foregoing reasons and for good cause shown, the Court hereby GRANTS IN PART and 12 DENIES IN PART defendants' joint motion. Any amended complaint must be filed by October 8,
13 2012. Master Docket No. 6392; Docket No. 33 in C 12-0335 SI.
